PROFESSIONAL SUMMARY

A dynamic serial entrepreneur, AI enthusiast, TEDx speaker and influential business leader with a passion for nurturing emerging ventures and guiding them towards meaningful success. Widely recognised for adopting AI tools and automating workflows to improve efficiency at scale, he grew Dot Com Infoway (DCI), his flagship company, into a globally renowned digital marketing, web and mobile application development firm.

He is the Co-founder of Magzter, the world’s largest cross-platform digital magazine store, and Thooya Innovations, a social-impact venture building free public toilets through a sustainable business model. He is also the Founder of Simbli.ai, an AI-powered platform for coaching, content creation and workflow automation, and osmAPI, a unified AI gateway that enables businesses to access and integrate multiple AI models through a single API.

Through 916 Studio, his AI-powered creative and production venture, he is exploring the future of storytelling by combining live-action filmmaking with generative AI, virtual production and emerging creative technologies.

He is the author of “The Struggle Is Real”, Correspondent of CSR Memorial Matriculation School, which serves more than 1,500 students, and an Independent Director of VT Mills. A committed philanthropist and Rotarian, his global perspective has been shaped by travels across more than 100 countries, allowing him to bridge entrepreneurship, technology, education, literature, digital media and social impact.
